

Training Notes

---

DHS Office of Infrastructure Protection

Implementing Critical Infrastructure Protection Programs (IS 921) now available

The Department of Homeland Security Office of Infrastructure Protection recently released a new independent study course titled Implementing Critical Infrastructure Protection Programs (IS-921) that is through the Federal Emergency Management Agency( FEMA) Emergency Management Institute .

The training is designed to provide the tools and techniques needed by individuals with Critical Infrastructure Protection responsibilities for both government and private sector organizations at the local, state, regional and federal levels. The content covers a range of topics including: forming partnerships, sharing information, managing risk and ensuring continuous improvement for critical infrastructure protection and resilience programs.

The three-hour training carries .3 continuing education credits and can be accessed free of charge by visiting: <http://emilms.fema.gov/IS921/index.htm>